

STATE OF CONNECTICUT

BY HIS EXCELLENCY

JOHN G. ROWLAND

GOVERNOR

EXECUTIVE ORDER NO. 34

WHEREAS, the total number of individuals served by emergency shelters in Connecticut last year was 16,545, of which 2,947 were children;

WHEREAS, many more individuals and families with children living in Connecticut are homeless and often seek shelter in abandoned buildings, automobiles, or live outside or in severely overcrowded conditions;

WHEREAS, approximately 20% of people experiencing homelessness at any given time are homeless for at least a year or more, or experience repeated episodes of homelessness. Because they most often have multiple physical or mental health problems or other substantial barriers to housing stability, the needs of these individuals result in high costs to the State and local communities;

WHEREAS, supportive housing – which blends affordable housing with necessary support and employment services – is a humane, cost-effective and proven solution to ending homelessness for people who have spent months or years living on the streets or in emergency shelters;

WHEREAS, the State of Connecticut has already taken the first step toward ending long-term homelessness by financing the creation of over 1,000 units of supportive housing in the last ten years;

WHEREAS, over the next ten years, the State of Connecticut, working in partnership with the Federal government, local communities, and the private sector, can make it possible for thousands of men, women, and families who face long-term homelessness due to mental illness, substance addiction and other serious health challenges to have decent housing and the services they need to regain control of their circumstances and to live active, fulfilling lives;

WHEREAS, in order to further prevent adults and families from falling into homelessness, supportive housing efforts must be coupled with effective discharge planning, particularly for those leaving the prison system, and other measures to prevent persons assisted through State programs from entering homelessness,

NOW THEREFORE, I, John G. Rowland, Governor of the State of Connecticut, acting by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and by the Statutes of this State and in the spirit of cooperation and bipartisanship demanded by the importance of the matter, do hereby, ORDER AND DIRECT:
